

Monty
Siekerman takes you on a spring sight-seeing tour of
Ada

The Village of Ada is known for the flowering pear trees that line Main Street each April, but the residential sections of town are decked in beauty as well.

Pears, flowering crab apples are out in full bloom. Recent cold weather didn't affect them, however the bright yellow forsythia were "scorched" this year.

Redbud trees and japonica are just now starting to show their colors, soon other shrubs and trees will add their touch of beauty to the landscape.

- Photos by Monty Siekerman

300 block of Willeke

South Johnson and East College

Large azalea, 500 block of Liberty

100 block of East Montfort

Pond, fountain, decorations, spring flowers at Oak and Beech streets

Our Lady of Lourdes at Highland and Simon

Creeping phlox, 300 block of Hays

Redbud, 300 block of West Lima Avenue

400 block of North Gilbert

Weeping cherry on Christopher Circle